Dear George,

I write this letter to document the high level of service General Dynamics Information Technology has received over the past three years from your company. Due to this high level of support we have received, I believe your company is exceptionally qualified to compete for the NSSA contract N5005410-R-0012.

Venture Dynamics has supplied General Dynamics with skilled trades on three separate projects between 2008 and the present and has supplied shipfitters, pipefitters, sheet metal workers, riggers, and general labor/firewatches. One of these projects was in Charleston, SC and required the workers to work in extremely hot and humid conditions. The workers hired from Venture Dynamics blended seamlessly with our workforce and enabled us to complete our job on time and on schedule for our customer. In two other projects that were accomplished in the Norfolk area, Venture supplied skilled and unskilled tradesmen that were the correct skill level provided a vital need that GDIT had to accomplish our projects on schedule. On rare occasions when a worker had problems, Venture reacted quickly to replace that worker in order to prevent delays.

It is for this reason I believe Venture Dynamics has all the right management and technical expertise to satisfy the requirements of the aforementioned government solicitation. If you should need additional information please do not hesitate to call me at (757) 328-5277, or jack.roper@gdit.com.

Sincerely,

Jack Roper
